SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 19, 1918.

The DuBois Courier calls W. I. Tobias the perpetual candidate after reading the shot fired by a local paper this week. Let us hope he is not another Bryan.

Patriotic week starts a week from tomorrow. The first day The Progress published anything about this important week a typographical error was made and the date was published as January 20. Sunday a week hence is the proper starting day.

Clearfield Countians are not yet alive to the advantages of war stamps as a medium of investment and saving. Nothing ever put out by the government or any government approaches this feature which is bound to return good dividends to the saver. A quarter is all that is needed to start saving and as everyone is within reach of a Post Office there is absolutely no inconvenience or red tape to the method. Children will take to the idea readily. If you want to try it, simply give your boy a quarter to go to the Postmaster with and see how enthusiastic he is about it when he returns.

Adults must not make the mistake of thinking that the war saving stamps are for children alone. The entire nation has been apportioned and each community is expected to absorb its share of thes baby Liberty Bonds. Clearfield County for instance is expected to buy over two million dollars in these stamps during this year.

Many people are trying hard to kid themselves into the belief that the drastic fuel order does not apply to them but to everybody else. There is only one safe rule to follow in this matter and that is for everybody to play safe and follow the order literally or in so far as is consistent with absolute necessity. It appears that a good rule to follow is to use no heat except for the purpose of individual personal comfort or keeping pipes or foodstuffs from freezing. So far as power is concerned; power is made from fuel and no one is to use any power in any commercial pursuit, or for the making of profit.

The spirit of the government order is that everything stops for a period of five days at the expiration of which time everything will start again and no person or house of business will have gained any unfair advantage over another.

AN ARISTOCRARIC DISH IS MUSH

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan 19—Mush is becoming the great American extravagance. The good old cornmeal variety is becoming so popular in the households that its price is going up along with everything else

Corn was one of Food Administrator Hoover's recommendations for the American table when he looked out on a world shortage of wheat As a result the busy housewife following the appeal has been putting corn into everything has been putting corn into luxury instead of a laugh as in years gone by.

BOY SCOUTS START CARRYING LETTERS AND DISPATCHES

Washington D. C. Jan 19—During the week beginning tomorrow the 300,000 Boy Scouts of America are to make their debut as "government dispatch bearer." The new employment of the Boy Scouts in circulating bulletins prepared by the committee of public information is at the personal suggestion of President Wilson. The initial service will be a house-to-house distribution of 5,000,000 copies of a specially printed Boy Scout edition of the Flag Day address delivered by President Wilson last June

During this and future campaigns of the same character each Boy Scout will be expected to place in the hands of 15 influential persons in his community the pamphlets entrusted to him for delivery and to obtain a promise from each person [illegible] to read the pamphlet through and then to place it where the information will be likely to do good Through this method the Government expects to reach at least 10,000,000 persons.

With Miss Alice Roberts, a Rhode Island student, she gave an interpretation of the Andante con moto of the Beethoven Sonata in D major for pianoforte and violin, a work which was favorably received by a representative audience of music students and their friends. LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.
Jan. 14, 1918.

Dear Slimmy: -

Just a line to let you know something concerning the so-called "Sunny South". It is just as cold here as in the north, it being ten to fifteen degrees below zero at the present time. But the natives say it is exceptional and the first time it has been so cold in 13 years.

But outside of weather conditions it's a great life. We are living in tents and as we have lots of wood for fuel and lots of blankets we sleep very comfortably. First call at 6 a. m., reveille at 6.15, mess 6.30. Then we have drill three hours and lectures four hours. Our military day ends at 4.30. Taps are blown at 10.30 and the majority of our evenings are spent at the Y. M. C. A.

We expect to be here about six weeks, then across the pond. Our company is just newly formed and will be located about 15 miles from the firing line where we will take care of the wounded. It is an interesting work.

Very truly,
JACK SCHIELE,
Evacuation Hospital No. 8,

Mrs. Frank Saup visited friends at Houtzdale on Thursday.

Railway mail clerk E. H. Meloy having been transferred to a train on the mountain has removed his family to Tyrone which will be more convenient for him. We regret to lose these good people from our town.

There has been a scarcity of water for several weeks which is still further increased now by a break in the main near the building of the Fire company. Many of the families in the upper part of town are without water.

Why the order to close such industrial establishments as that of the S. B. Stine whose output consists of mine cars, mine fans and equipment which helps to increase the production of coal and who gets their supply by wagons from near by mines, and also such as the Osceola Silica and Fire Brick Co. who operate their own mine and convey their coal to the plant themselves should be included in the order to close is difficult to understand especially as the coal consumed here does not have anything to do with the supply in the East. There are thousands of miners walking the streets and have been for weeks past anxious to work but unable to do so because of lack of cars being supplied to this region. One of the largest mining companies in this district has had but five cars in the past three days at four of their mines.

John Edwards the Philipsburg shoe merchant was a business visitor in town Friday.

Charles Heath of Philadelphia, the genial cigar salesman transacted business in town on Friday

RIDGWAY PUT UP GAME FIGHT BUT WERE DEFEATED

The basketball game at the High School gym last evening was sure some contest The Ridgway High school boys were the victims of the smooth-working machine Coach Smith keeps on tap for just such "killings." The locals were inexceptionally fine form and the final sere showed them fourteen hard-earned points to the good.

The Ridgway boys payed a good fast game and made a host of friends here by their gentlemanly conduct and the thorough sportsmanship shown. The first half was pretty evenly contested, the score at the finish being 17 to 19 in favor of the locals.

Captain Butler gave his team a shot in the arm during the rest period and they played like a new team during the second session and really bewildered their opponents by their marvelous passing and point-gaining team work.

However, the Ridgway boys were handicapped by the fact that this was practically the third team they had been up against in two days. They met a team in another town the night previous and after winning the first half, a fresh crew of "nine stone" men were turned loose on them and bumped them around pretty rough. The result was they were not in shape to combat the whirlwind finish of the local "strong boys" and they scored almost at will.

Captain Butler, Pooler and Fulton were the same brilliant trio in our history-making aggregation, while Dowler, who is filling ... engagement of the "big time" ... by his fast work that he is ... Robison, who ... three degrees north ... the Brooks ... [illegible]

PETROGRAD RUNS WITH BLOOD AS CONGRESS OPENS

By Jos. Shapelin

Petrograd (delayed) via London. Jan. 18.—Several persons were killed and many wounded in street fighting today at the opening of the Constituent Assembly. The streets were filled with fighting mobs. The Bolsheviki were well prepared as they had heard that a counter revolution was planned under the leadership of former Premier Kerensky. Kerensky himself was reported to be hiding in Petrograd. The Constituent Assembly opened at four o'clock in the afternoon. Among those killed in the rioting was M. Logzhoff of the executive committee of the Peasants' Congress. The wounded included many women. Stories of the rioting differ. M. Tczernoff, a Socialist Revolutionary and former Premier of Agriculture under Kerensky was elected President of the Constituent Assembly by a vote of 244 against 165 polled by Scrugonowa, a former Duma leader.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder obthers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The functions of hte kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys wil lact fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with liahia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive: cannot injure; makes a delightfu lefferveseent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

CHESTNUT PARTY.

Jack Frost and his little helpers had made the chestnuts fine and ripe and the squirrels were very much excited.

"I Didn't Know It Was My Birthday."

"Let's have a nutting party," said Mrs. Red Squirrel, and Mr. Red Squirrel said, "The very thing. Today is a splendid day for a nutting party."

"We'd like to join the fun," said the chipmunks, "and get some of the nuts for the winter. We're also planning to give a banquet in honor of Chippy Chappy's birthday, which comes tomorrow."

"We never knew that Chippy Chappy's birthday was tomorrow," said Mrs. Red Squirrel. And she was thinking as hard as she could what she could get ready to give Chippy Chappy on such short notice.

"We didn't tell our friends, as we didn't want them to feel they had to give Chippy Chappy presents, but we did want to give a birthday party for him," said the chipmunks.

"As a matter of fact," said Chippy Chappy, "I didn't know it was my birthday."

"Neither did we," said the chipmunks, "but we know it now, as we have just decided upon it."

"Ha, ha," laughed the red squirrels, "and you said you hadn't told us before so we wouldn't feel we had to get presents."

"Never mind," added Mrs. Red Squirrel, "I'll have some special treat for him." For she remembered that she had had a birthday once—at a time when she wasn't absolutely sure it was her birthday—because she just longed for a feast.

"We'll start for the nuts in the morning," said Mr. Red Squirrel, "and in the evening we'll have the feast."

"Aren't we to have anything to eat through the day?" asked the little red squirrels.

"We'll starve," said the little chipmunks, almost weeping at the thought.

"Of course we'll eat a little," Mr. Red Squirrel said. "Squirrels will always eat. We can eat and work at the same time, which is extremely clever of us. We'll have a nibble every little while—as often as we wish," he continued, and all the little squirrels and chipmunks felt happier.

"We simply meant," Mrs. Red Squirdel explained to the children, "that we would have a special feast in the evening."

Everyone felt very happy and they all went off to have good sleeps so they would feel quite fresh for the morning.

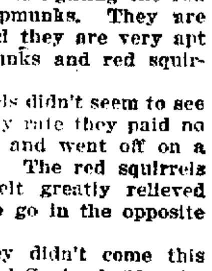

Morning came and the red squirrels and chipmunks were awake and ready for all the fun. "We feel just like a good hunt," said the red squirrels.

"So do we," said the chipmunks.

Far off they saw the gray squirrels and they hurried away for the gray squirrels are fond of fighting the red squirrels and chipmunks. They are much stronger and they are very apt to kill the chipmunks and red squirrels.

The gray squirrels didn't seem to see the others. At any rate they paid no attention to them and went off on a trip of their own. The red squirrels and chipmunks felt greatly relieved and they began to go in the opposite direction.

"I am glad they didn't come this way," said Mr. Red Squirrel, "for the best chestnut trees are over here."

"Let's Have a Nutting Party."

"I saw some other nuts, too," said Mrs. Red Squirrel.

"Did you, my dear?" said Mr. Red Squirrel, jumping over to her side. Tell me where."

"Tell us all," they screamed.

So Mr. Red Squirrel showed his trees of nuts as did Mrs. Red Squirrel. They ate so much all the time, and nibbled so many nuts that the chipmunk and red sqirrel children most certainly did not starve.

But they took many away with them and at just the time when Mr. Sun was going to bed they had their special feast.

Suddenly they all said, "Many happy returns, Chippy Chappy," for in their excitement over getting the nuts they had forgotten that they had planned to make this day his birthday. But Chippy Chappy had forgotten too, and the chestnut feast made up for everything!

Lesson 3—First Quarter, January 20, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Mark 1:21-34—Memory Verse, Gal. 6:2—Golden Text, John, 9:4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson might be entitled, "Some of the Words and Works of Jesus Christ," and the Golden Text should be as true of his followers as of himself, for he said to his father, "As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world," and after his resurrection he said to his disciples, "As my father hath sent me, even so send I you." (John 17-18; 20-21.) As to his own words and works he said, "The words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself; but the father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." (John 12:49-50; 14:10.) When therefore we read in lesson verses 21, 22, that he taught them as one that had authority, we see why; and we should lay to heart 1 Pet. 4:11, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God." See also Ex. 4:12; Jer, 1:7-9; Phil. 2:13; Col. 1:29.

In the rest of our lesson chapter we see him casting out demons, healing all manner of diseases, and even leprosy, as it is written in Matt. 4:23, "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people." In Matt. 5 to 7 we have the laws or life of the kingdom, and in Matt. 8 and 9 as in today's lesson some samples of kingdom health, for when the kingdom comes the inhabitant shall not say, "I am sick —and the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity." (Isa. 33:24.)

It seems strange that while men do not know this Holy One of God, the demons know him (vs. 24, 34). It is written, "The demons believe and tremble" (Jas. 2:19). It is still true that men, women and children are ofttimes possessed by evil spirits, and blamed for what the evil spirits say and do through them. To bring them to Jesus would be better than finding fault with them, for he is still the same Jesus, and as able to cast out demons as when on earth in his humiliation. But we must remember, as we saw in last week's lesson, that the kingdom has not come yet, and kingdom conditions can only be by special grace, and foreshadowings of the future. As to his authority (vs. 22, 27) he is in the place of all power at the father's right hand, and when we are really and whole-heartedly here for him and his affairs, we may hear him say, "Concerning the work of my hands command ye me." (Isa. 45:13). Lesson verses 29-31 introduce us to the home of Simon Peter whose wife's mother lay sick of a fever. It was a poor time to bring company home from church, some might have thought and said; but as no remarks are recorded from Peter's wife on this occasion, we may suppose that she was glad to see her husband's friends even though her mother was sick. If she did not entertain angels by her hospitality, she received the Lord who has thousands of thousands ministering to him, and she must surely have been glad all her days, and to this present time, and forever, because of him who came to her home that day. Immediately, as he took the sick one by the hand, she was well, perfectly well, no slow and gradual recovery, and helped Peter's wife to minister to her visitors. See Heb. 13:2, and compare the story in Gen. 18.

What multitudes of people were made glad, and homes made happy, that evening, by him who is the source of all health and happiness and peace and joy, who will finally banish all sorrow, and crying, and pain, and death from the whole earth (vs. 32-34). No doubt he slept after the labors of such a day and evening, for his body was mortal and he was often weary, and on one occasion we find him sleeping in the midst of a great storm. In the morning, a great while before day, he was away in a solitary place, in communion with his Father, for that was more to him than aught else (vs. 35) and it should be so to us also. Simon and the others having found him, and told him that many were seeking him, his reply was, "Let us go into the next towns for therefore came I forth." We should consider whether we are ever ministering to the same people, or reaching new people.

In his journeyings a leper came to him with great faith saying, "If thou wilt thou canst make me clean." He surely believed that nothing was too hard for such a wonder worker (Jer. 32:17, 27; Gen. 18:14), and he was not disappointed. The great heart of heavenly compassion put forth his hand and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and instantly the leper was cleansed. We can scarcely imagine the joy of deliverance from such a living death; and we should surely trust the Lord to give us hearts of compassion for the multitude of lepers in the world today. We send money to Miss Mary Reed in India every month for her work among the lepers, and are also caring for many leper men, and women, and children of leprous parents, through the society, giving some physical comforts and bringing them the Gospel. We need the compassionate heart of Jesus for all the suffering and shepherdless ones in all the world.

SPREAD MANURE ON FIELDS

Loss of Plant Food by Fermentation and Leaching Ought to Be Prevented—Test at Wooster.

To prevent loss of plant food by fermentation and leaching in barnyards and stables, manure should be spread on the corn ground during the late winter and early spring months.

Manure Being Wasted.

Greater returns are obtained from manure spread evenly over a large area than from the same amount scattered heavily over a smaller tract.

As an average of 17 years' test at the Ohio experiment station at Wooster, eight tons of manure per acre applied to corn in a three-year rotation of corn, wheat and clover has produced 25 bushels more corn than land receiving no treatment. Four tons of manure to the acre on both corn and wheat in a five-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat, clover and timothy has produced an increase of 14.3 bushels of corn, as an average of 20 years. Eight tons of manure on the same crops in the same rotation has increased the corn yield only 23.8 bushels during this period. In other words, doubling the amount of manure has increased the corn yield only 66 per cent. In order to apply the manure evenly and over a large area a manure spreader is recommended by the experiment station.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste mrterial must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmles means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

WHOLESALE EXEMPTIONS BEING MADE BY FUEL ADMINISTRATOR GARFIELD

LAUNDRIES MAY GO AHEAD AND MANY BRICKWORKS GET ORDERS TO WORK AS USAUL MONDAY AND TUESDAY

DRUG STORES RESTRICTED TO DRUGS

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 19—All mills furnishing ship yard supplies have been added to the increasing list of exemptions under Garfield's industrial suspension order. This was requested by the shipping board. The war department estimated today that the Ordnance department alone has asked the exemption from the fuel order of about five hundred factories which are considered vital to war work. The list of the factories exempted have not as yet been made public.

Drug store swil lbe allowed to maintain the usual business hours Monday and the nine succeeding Mondays and will not have to comply with the Garfield suspension order but they are expected to confine their sale to only necessities such as drugs it was announced this afternoon. Sale of soda water, other drinks, cigars and candy will be prohibited.

Newspapers under the modified regulations laid down by the fuel administrator may select any legal holiday as the basis for the number of editions on the Monday holidays if it so desires. It is announced that the editor will be left to his own sense of honesty and patriotism in the matter.

Washington, Jan. 19—The fuel administration today heeded the cry of actors and issued a modification of the fuel order allowing the theatres to remain open on Monday but to close Tuesday instead. The action was deemed advisable in view of the protest of actors and managers that the Monday closing would ruin their business. The ruling applies to moving picture theatres, pool rooms, billiard parlors, private and public dance halls and other places of amusement.

All laundries are on the exemption lists and are not affected by the fuel order.

ALLIES LOOK FOR BIG GERMAN DRIVE TO ANSWER WILSON

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 19—America and her allies are confident that the German militarist party is planning to make a big western front drive in answer to President Wilson's and Lloyd George's war aims.

Chanceller Hertling will probably make some reply to the war aims but so far everything indicates that there will be no concessions now— England's man power bill is intended to give sufficient men to off-set the German temporary advantage gained from the shifting to the western front the men who were on the eastern front and it is claimed it will off-set any gain Germany might achieve until the war aims are accepted or accomplished. The political propaganda offensive will continue in its effort to swing Russia and Austria on the side of the Allies.

HARBISON-WALKER PLANTS HERE TO START WORKING

The Harbison Brick works in this section were notified at noon by means of a telegram received from H. W. Craft, President of the Harbison-Walker Refractories company at Pittsburgh, that they would be expected to operate their yards Monday and Tuesday next as usual. This action Mr. Craft stated was taken according to the decision and order of Pittsburgh's local fuel dictator and is therefore official.

The receipt of this order means that No. 2 Brick Works will start work at midnight Sunday night and continue as before. Employes of No. 2 will do well to bear this change in mind and be present at midnight Sunday to resume their regular shifts.

The lower Harbison-Walker yard or Brick Works No. 3 will also resume operations at the same time and night shift employes should be on hand at that time.

All the Harbison Walker works in this vicinity are expected to start to work at midnight on Sunday and while orders have not been received by the Patterson works here and the Bickford people at Curwensville they will no doubt be ordered to resume operations and employees should hold themselves in readiness to go to work on call.

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT IS OF INTEREST

Has Confidence That American People Will Patriotically Accept The Inconvenience

REITERATES THE NECESSITY

Washington, January 18—With rumors abroad of a serious split in the cabinet growing out of the Garfield order, President Wilson tonight broke his silence and issued a statement defending the action. He said:

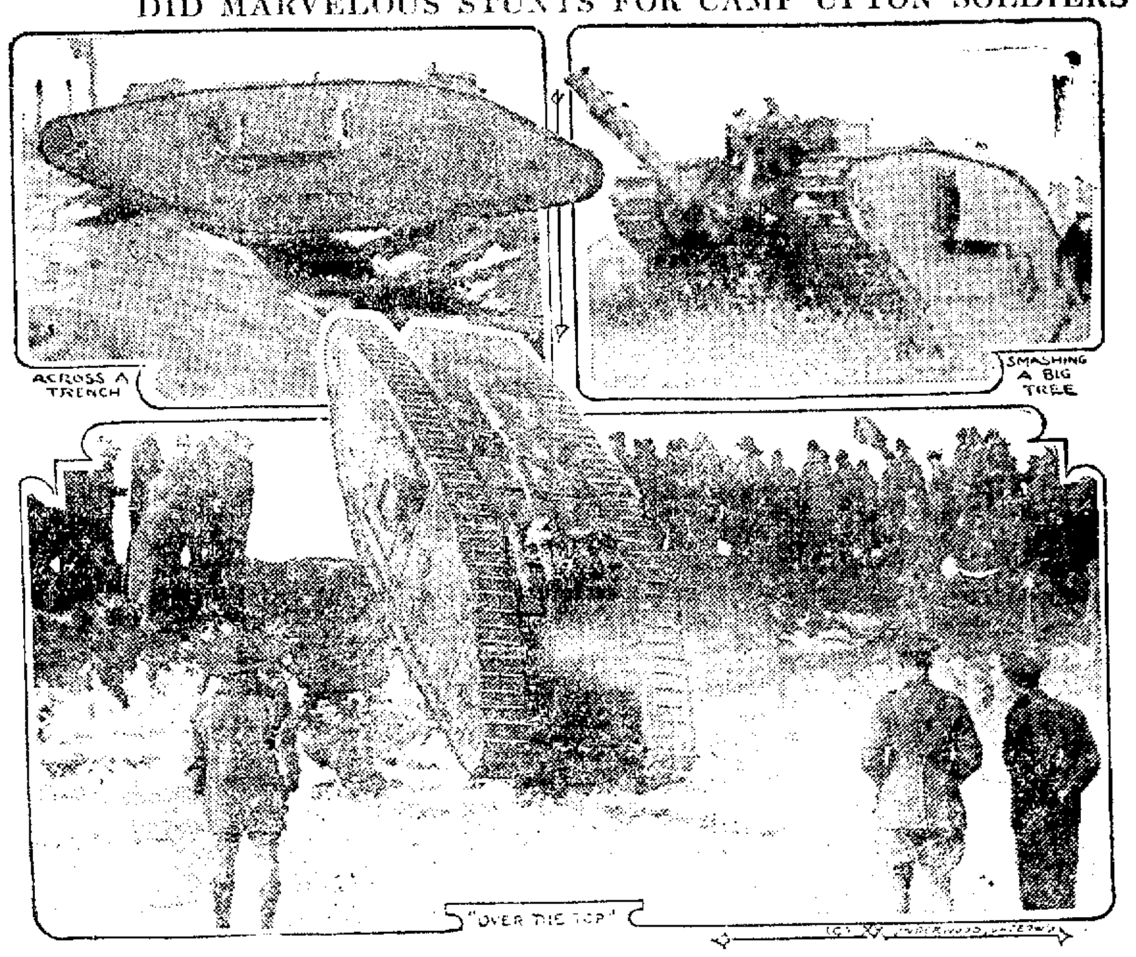

"I was, of course, consulted by Dr. Garfield before the fuel order was issued and fully agreed with him that it was necessary, much as I regretted the necessity. This war calls for many secrafices and sacrifices of the sort called for by this order are infinitely less than sacrifices of lives that may be involved. It is necessary to get the ships away. It is absolutely necessary to relieve the congestion upon the railroads. It is absolutely necesasry that our people should be warmed in their homes, if nowhere else, and half-way measures would not accomplish the desired ends.

"If action such as this had not been taken we would have limped along with a slowly improved condition of affairs with regard to the shipment of food and coal, but without such immediate relief as had become absolutely necessary because of the congestion of traffic.

"I have every confidence that the result of the action will justify it and that the people will loyally and cheerfully respend to suggestions of this kind as they have to every sacrifice involved in the war. We are on a war footing and I am confident that the people are willing to observe the same sort of discipline that might be involved in the conflict itself."

The statement was issued today following a cabinet meeting. Immediately after adjournment the President went into conference with Secretaries Lane and Daniels and Attorney General Gregory.

BRITISH TANK BRITANNIA, NOW IN DRIVE FOR RECRUITS, DID MARVELOUS STUNTS FOR CAMP UPTON SOLDIERS

The big land-battleship Britannia, which recently astonished thousands of Brig. Gen. Evan M. Johnson's United States soldiers at Camp Upton by lumbering up almost impossible inclines, crushing big trees like match-weed and crossing "enemy" trenches amidst a raking machine gun fire, has started on a tour of the United States to stimulate recruiting for the British, Canadian and United States armies. The tank is sent out by Brig. Gen. W. A. White of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission, and in personal command of the tank and its crew of veterans, all of whom have been wounded, is Captain Richard Haigh, who was twice wounded himself. Brig. Gen. White wants to show this wonderful war machine in action to about 250,000 Britishers and Canadians of military age with the idea of inspiring them to volunteer and do their plain duty to their country.

Owing to the fact that tanks are built to operate in mud and not on frozen ground, the Britannia will first visit the large centers of population in the south—Richmond, Atlanta, Augusta, Birmingham, Mobile, New Orleans (at Mardi Gras) and other cities—and will next crawl through the streets of Memphis, Louisville, etc., on its way to Chicago, the headquarters of Col. J. S. Dennis in charge of the Western Division. The tank will not reach Chicago until warmer weather sets in, because five miles of travel over frozen ground causes more wear and tear on a "lady" tank like the Britannia than fifty miles through the mud. The female tank carries six machine guns and weighs thirty tons, while the male is armed with two six-pounders, three rapid firers and weighs sixty tons.

The Britannia saw service in the battle of the Somme, went "over the top" three times and had part of her hull shot away. To save time she travels on a big flat car between cities, her own speed being only about four miles an hour. Accompanying her on the tour will be the captured German submarine, renamed the "U-Buy a Bond," which participated in the second Liberty Loan campaign.

LICENSE COURT WILL STAGE A REAL BATTLE

Houtzdale Applicants First To Face "Dry Fed" Inquisitors Monday Morning Next

REMONSTRANCES ARE SMALL

License court opens Monday morning next and according to Judge Bell's schedule the Houtzdale applicants will be first to meet the objections of the dry forces.

Attorney R. D. Swoope, of Curwensville, who with District Attorney John C. Arnold will again have charge of the remonstrances and represent the Clearfield County Dry Federation in the battle, was in town this morning filing and looking over remonstrances and getting his forces in hand for the contest. Thus far ther ehave been general remonstrances filed against all the breweries and wholesalrs, while specific remonstrances have been lodged against forty-two of the sixty retail or hotel applications.

Mr. Swoope informed The Progress representative that they not only proposed to put up a strenuous battle in suport of every remonstrance already on file, but intended to file many more remonstrances on Monday.

The remonstrances against the breweries ad wholesales were circulated and quite generally signed in fifty-eight different districts or communities in the county.

Those retaliers against whom remonstrances have been filed, together with the number of voters signing each one, are as follows:

Each remonstrance in addition to the number of voters mentioned also contains the names of many women.

The dry forces are taking no chances and overlooking no bets it would appear from the fact that a remonstrance containing the names of 34 men and 21 women are filed against an application for license by John H. Burns, of Decatur township, although Mr. Burns has been dead almost a year and the hotel has been closed that length of time.

Following is the order in which the applications will be considered by the court:

Monday, January 21st, 1918—Houtzdale Borough, Osceola Borough, Ramey Borough, Bigler Township, Lawrence Township.

A. T. KEARNEY ENLISTS IN AIR SERVICE

Young Man Has Made Many Warm Friends In His Position As County Farm Agent

IS NOW AWAITING HIS CALL

The county agricultural work which has been going on under the auspices of the county and state agricultural department is to lose the services of its agent A. T. Kearney who has just been notified that he passed his examination for a commission as Second Lieutenant in the aviation corps. He may be called into military service any time, or the call may not come for six months. Mr. Kearney said he could not be more definite about leaving, as he said the war department could not say when they would need him.

He went to Philadelphia recently and took his examination, being one of the five out of nineteen that successfully passed. When the call to service comes he will spend eight weeks in an aviation school before being allowed to begin handling a machine alone.

Mr. Kearney has been in charge of the county farm work for two years. During that time he has been active in bringing about a greatly increased interest in more modern and better soil production and stock raising. He has especially been of value in securing co-operation among the farmers to increase production to help the government in its campaign to increase food resources in order to win the war.

The matter of Mr. Kearney's successor has been taken up with the state, and it is hoped to secure a man to work with Mr. Kearney awhile, before he leaves. It is difficult at this time to get men for that kind of work. It will be unfortunate if we cannot secure another man to undertake the work when Mr. Kearney leaves, as he has many plans on foot that will be a total loss almost if allowed to drop only partially completed.

Mr. Kearney has been an able, [illegible] miss him more than we now imagine.

TO VOTE AGAIN ON SALOON QUESTION

Austin, Texas, Jan. 19.—Following a spirited campaign which closed today, a special election will be held in the city of Austin on Monday to decide whether the saloon shall be retained or abolished. It will be the third time within a year that the voters of Austin have passed upon the measure. The rest of the county has already voted dry and the prohibition leaders are hopeful that the city will take similar action.

SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 19, 1918.

The DuBois Courier calls W. I. Tobias the perpetual candidate after reading the shot fired by a local paper this week. Let us hope he is not another Bryan.

Patriotic week starts a week from tomorrow. The first day The Progress published anything about this important week a typographical error was made and the date was published as January 20. Sunday a week hence is the proper starting day.

Clearfield Countians are not yet alive to the advantages of war stamps as a medium of investment and saving. Nothing ever put out by the government or any government approaches this feature which is bound to return good dividends to the saver. A quarter is all that is needed to start saving and as everyone is within reach of a Post Office there is absolutely no inconvenience or red tape to the method. Children will take to the idea readily. If you want to try it, simply give your boy a quarter to go to the Postmaster with and see how enthusiastic he is about it when he returns.

Adults must not make the mistake of thinking that the war saving stamps are for children alone. The entire nation has been apportioned and each community is expected to absorb its share of thes baby Liberty Bonds. Clearfield County for instance is expected to buy over two million dollars in these stamps during this year.

Many people are trying hard to kid themselves into the belief that the drastic fuel order does not apply to them but to everybody else. There is only one safe rule to follow in this matter and that is for everybody to play safe and follow the order literally or in so far as is consistent with absolute necessity. It appears that a good rule to follow is to use no heat except for the purpose of individual or personal comfort or keeping pipes or foodstuffs from freezing. So far as power is concerned; power is made from fuel and no one is to use any power in any commercial pursuit, or for the making of profit.

The spirit of the government order is that everything stops for a period of five days at the expiration of which time everything will start again and no person or house of business will have gained any unfair advantage over another.

AN ARISTOCRARIC DISH IS MUSH

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan 19—Mush is becoming the great American extravagance. The good old cornmeal variety is becoming so popular in the households that its price is going up along with everything else

Corn was one of Food Administrator Hoover's recommendations for the American table when he looked out on a world shortage of wheat. As a result the busy housewife following the appeal has been putting corn into everything has been putting corn into luxury instead of a laugh as in years gone by.

BOY SCOUTS START CARRYING LETTERS AND DISPATCHES

Washington D. C. Jan 19.—During the week beginning tomorrow the 300,000 Boy Scouts of America are to make their debut as "government dispatch bearer." The new employment of the Boy Scouts in circulating bulletins prepared by the committee of public information is at the personal suggestion of President Wilson. LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga
Jan. 14, 1918.

Dear Slimmy: -

Just a line to let you know something concerning the so-called "Sunny South". It is just as cold here as in the north, it being ten to fifteen degrees below zero at the present time. But the natives say it is exceptional and the first time it has been so cold in 13 years.

But outside of weather conditions it's a great life. We are living in tents and as we have lots of wood for fuel and lots of blankets we sleep very comfortably. First call at 6 a. m., reveille at 6.15, mess 6.30. Then we have drill three hours and lectures four hours. Our military day ends at 4.30. Taps are blown at 10.30 and the majority of our evenings are spent at the Y. M. C. A.

We expect to be here about six weeks, then across the pond. Our company is just newly formed and will be located about 15 miles from the firing line where we will take care of the wounded. It is an interesting work.

Very truly,
JACK SCHIELE,
Evacuation Hospital No. 8,

Railway mail clerk E. H. Meloy having been transferred to a train on the mountain has removed his family to Tyrone which will be more convenient for him. We regret to lose these good people from our town

There has been a scarcity of water for several weeks which is still further increased now by a break in the main near the building of the Fire company. Many of the families in the upper part of town are without water.

Why the order to close such industrial establishments as that of the S. B. Stine whose output consists of mine cars, mine fans and equipment which helps to increase the production of coal and who gets their supply by wagons from near by mines, and also such as the Osceola Silica and Fire Brick Co. who operate their own mine and convey their coal to the plant themselves should be included in the order to close is difficult to understand especially as the coal consumed here does not have anything to do with the supply in the East. There are thousands of miners walking the streets and have been for weeks past anxious to work but unable to do so because of lack of cars being supplied to this region. One of the largest mining companies in this district has had but five cars in the past three days at four of their mines.

The basketball game at the High School gym last evening was sure some contest The Ridgway High school boys were the victims of the smooth-working machine Coach Smith keeps on tap for just such "killings." The locals were unexceptionally fine form and the final score showed them fourteen hard-earned points to the good.

The Ridgway boys payed a good fast game and made a host of friends here by their gentlemanly conduct and the thorough sportsmanship shown. The first half was pretty evenly contested, the score at the finish being 17 to 19 in favor of the locals.

Captain Butler gave his team a shot in the arm during the rest period and they played like a new team during the second session and really bewildered their opponents by their marvelous passing and point-gaining team work.

However, the Ridgway boys were handicapped by the fact that this was practically the third team they had been up against in two days. They met a team in another town the night previous and after winning the first half, a fresh crew of "nine stone" men were turned loose on them and bumped them around pretty rough. The result was they were not in shape to combat the whirlwind finish of the local "strong boys" and they scored almost at will.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHESTNUT PARTY.

Jack Frost and his little helpers had made the chestnuts fine and ripe and the squirrels were very much excited.

"I Didn't Know It Was My Birthday."

"Let's have a nutting party," said Mrs. Red Squirrel, and Mr. Red Squirrel said, "The very thing. Today is a splendid day for a nutting party."

"We'd like to join the fun," said the chipmunks, "and get some of the nuts for the winter. We're also planning to give a banquet in honor of Chippy Chappy's birthday, which comes tomorrow."

"We never knew that Chippy Chappy's birthday was tomorrow," said Mrs. Red Squirrel. And she was thinking as hard as she could what she could get ready to give Chippy Chappy on such short notice.

"We didn't tell our friends, as we didn't want them to feel they had to give Chippy Chappy presents, but we did want to give a birthday party for him," said the chipmunks.

"As a matter of fact," said Chippy Chappy, "I didn't know it was my birthday."

"Neither did we," said the chipmunks, "but we know it now, as we have just decided upon it."

"Ha, ha," laughed the red squirrels, "and you said you hadn't told us before so we wouldn't feel we had to get presents."

"Never mind," added Mrs. Red Squirrel, "I'll have some special treat for him." For she remembered that she had had a birthday once—at a time when she wasn't absolutely sure it was her birthday—because she just longed for a feast.

"We'll start for the nuts in the morning," said Mr. Red Squirrel, "and in the evening we'll have the feast."

"Aren't we to have anything to eat through the day?" asked the little red squirrels.

"We'll starve," said the little chipmunks, almost weeping at the thought.

"Of course we'll eat a little," Mr. Red Squirrel said. "Squirrels will always eat. We can eat and work at the same time, which is extremely clever of us. We'll have a nibble every little while—as often as we wish," he continued, and all the little squirrels and chipmunks felt happier.

"We simply meant," Mrs. Red Squirdel explained to the children, "that we would have a special feast in the evening."

Everyone felt very happy and they all went off to have good sleeps so they would feel quite fresh for the morning.

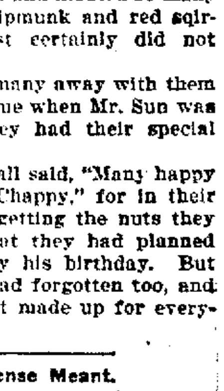

Morning came and the red squirrels and chipmunks were awake and ready for all the fun. "We feel just like a good hunt," said the red squirrels.

"So do we," said the chipmunks.

Far off they saw the gray squirrels and they hurried away for the gray squirrels are fond of fighting the red squirrels and chipmunks. They are much stronger and they are very apt to kill the chipmunks and red squirrels.

The gray squirrels didn't seem to see the others. At any rate they paid no attention to them and went off on a trip of their own. The red squirrels and chipmunks felt greatly relieved and they began to go in the opposite direction.

"I am glad they didn't come this way," said Mr. Red Squirrel, "for the best chestnut trees are over here."

"Let's Have a Nutting Party."

"I saw some other nuts, too," said Mrs. Red Squirrel.

"Did you, my dear?" said Mr. Red Squirrel, jumping over to her side. "Tell me where."

"Tell us all," they screamed.

So Mr. Red Squirrel showed his trees of nuts as did Mrs. Red Squirrel. They ate so much all the time, and nibbled so many nuts that the chipmunk and red sqirrel children most certainly did not starve.

But they took many away with them and at just the time when Mr. Sun was going to bed they had their special feast.

Suddenly they all said, "Many happy returns, Chippy Chappy," for in their excitement over getting the nuts they had forgotten that they had planned to make this day his birthday. But Chippy Chappy had forgotten too, and the chestnut feast made up for everything!

Lesson 3—First Quarter, January 20, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Mark 1:21-34—Memory Verse, Gal. 6:2—Golden Text, John, 9:4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson might be entitled, "Some of the Words and Works of Jesus Christ," and the Golden Text should be as true of his followers as of himself, for he said to his father, "As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world," and after his resurrection he said to his disciples, "As my father hath sent me, even so send I you." (John 17-18; 20-21.) As to his own words and works he said, "The words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself; but the father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." (John 12:49-50; 14:10.) When therefore we read in lesson verses 21, 22, that he taught them as one that had authority, we see why; and we should lay to heart 1 Pet. 4:11, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God." See also Ex. 4:12; Jer, 1:7-9; Phil. 2:13; Col. 1:29.

In the rest of our lesson chapter we see him casting out demons, healing all manner of diseases, and even leprosy, as it is written in Matt. 4:23, "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people." In Matt. 5 to 7 we have the laws or life of the kingdom, and in Matt. 8 and 9 as in today's lesson some samples of kingdom health, for when the kingdom comes the inhabitant shall not say, "I am sick—and the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity." (Isa. 33:24.)

It seems strange that while men do not know this Holy One of God, the demons know him (vs. 24, 34). It is written, "The demons believe and tremble" (Jas. 2:19). It is still true that men, women and children are ofttimes possessed by evil spirits, and blamed for what the evil spirits say and do through them. To bring them to Jesus would be better than finding fault with them, for he is still the same Jesus, and as able to cast out demons as when on earth in his humiliation. But we must remember, as we saw in last week's lesson, that the kingdom has not come yet, and kingdom conditions can only be by special grace, and foreshadowings of the future. As to his authority (vs. 22, 27) he is in the place of all power at the father's right hand, and when we are really and whole-heartedly here for him and his affairs, we may hear him say, "Concerning the work of my hands command ye me." (Isa. 45:13). Lesson verses 29-31 introduce us to the home of Simon Peter whose wife's mother lay sick of a fever. It was a poor time to bring company home from church, some might have thought and said; but as no remarks are recorded from Peter's wife on this occasion, we may suppose that she was glad to see her husband's friends even though her mother was sick. If she did not entertain angels by her hospitality, she received the Lord who has thousands of thousands ministering to him, and she must surely have been glad all her days, and to this present time, and forever, because of him who came to her home that day. Immediately, as he took the sick one by the hand, she was well, perfectly well, no slow and gradual recovery, and helped Peter's wife to minister to her visitors. See Heb. 13:2, and compare the story in Gen. 18.

What multitudes of people were made glad, and homes made happy, that evening, by him who is the source of all health and happiness and peace and joy, who will finally banish all sorrow, and crying, and pain, and death from the whole earth (vs. 32-34). No doubt he slept after the labors of such a day and evening, for his body was mortal and he was often weary, and on one occasion we find him sleeping in the midst of a great storm. In the morning, a great while before day, he was away in a solitary place, in communion with his Father, for that was more to him than aught else (vs. 35) and it should be so to us also. Simon and the others having found him, and told him that many were seeking him, his reply was, "Let us go into the next towns for therefore came I forth." We should consider whether we are ever ministering to the same people, or reaching new people.

In his journeyings a leper came to him with great faith saying, "If thou wilt thou canst make me clean." He surely believed that nothing was too hard for such a wonder worker (Jer. 32:17, 27; Gen. 18:14), and he was not disappointed. The great heart of heavenly compassion put forth his hand and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and instantly the leper was cleansed. We can scarcely imagine the joy of deliverance from such a living death; and we should surely trust the Lord to give us hearts of compassion for the multitude of lepers in the world today. We send money to Miss Mary Reed in India every month for her work among the lepers, and are also caring for many leper men, and women, and children of leprous parents, through the society, giving some physical comforts and bringing them the Gospel. We need the compassionate heart of Jesus for all the suffering and shepherdless ones in all the world.

SPREAD MANURE ON FIELDS

Loss of Plant Food by Fermentation and Leaching Ought to Be Prevented—Test at Wooster.

To prevent loss of plant food by fermentation and leaching in barnyards and stables, manure should be spread on the corn ground during the late winter and early spring months.

Manure Being Wasted.

Greater returns are obtained from manure spread evenly over a large area than from the same amount scattered heavily over a smaller tract.

As an average of 17 years' test at the Ohio experiment station at Wooster, eight tons of manure per acre applied to corn in a three-year rotation of corn, wheat and clover has produced 25 bushels more corn than land receiving no treatment. Four tons of manure to the acre on both corn and wheat in a five-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat, clover and timothy has produced an increase of 14.3 bushels of corn, as an average of 20 years. Eight tons of manure on the same crops in the same rotation has increased the corn yield only 23.8 bushels during this period. In other words, doubling the amount of manure has increased the corn yield only 60 per cent. In order to apply the manure evenly and over a large area a manure spreader is recommended by the experiment station.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If w ealt lwoul! practice inside bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste mrterial must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmles means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate wil lnot cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.
